REPORT

OF THE

Superintending School Committee

OF THE TOWN OF CONWAY, N. H.

In making my sixth and last annual report as Superintending Committee of the public schools of the town of Conway, I feel to point with some satisfaction to the advance made in the schools of the town during these six years.

Several districts have built new school houses, and others have greatly improved their dilapidated ones.

As to real qualification for their work, a great advance has been made among our teachers. Yet several of the school registers returned to your committee bear sad evidence of deficiency.

The greatest improvement in any one direction has been in providing the schools with suitable text books. Although provision is made in the law for supplying our schools with books in case of neglect on the part of parents or guardians, the expense being defrayed by the town, no such bills have been made. Your committee has personally borne this loss.

I wish it were possible to bring before the town an average class in reading as found in our schools six years ago, and in contrast one of similar grade in our best schools this last term. The same is true in geography and arithmetic, but less easily shown, except by careful examination.

In spelling, penmanship and grammar, there has not been that improvement which could be desired. Here is work for teachers and committee in years to come.

We must not forget that in no department of public affairs, is that "eternal vigilance," which is the price of liberty, and everywhere essential to a free State, more essential than in the care and improvement of our common district schools.

The town of Conway can look back with pride to its early settlers, who, among their first efforts in making themselves homes in the wilderness, gave a large place to education and religion. The school and church are upon the very first pages of our town records.

Let us see to it that no less attention be given to these important matters than was given by the fathers.

It is believed that the accompanying table gives as good a view of the condition of the schools of the town as can be given in a similar space. A few notes additional are needed.

One of the evils in connection with our schools is the non-attendance of pupils. District No. 2 has been greatly at fault in this matter. It is somewhat difficult to enforce our laws in this direction, but parents and guardians should see to it that their children have all the advantages possible in obtaining a good education.

Sometimes one or two evil-minded scholars do much to injure a school. The report of No. 6 would have been among the very best in town but for an instance of this sort. The second term in District No. 8 was also greatly injured by the conduct of some of the pupils. Sometimes the parents are wholly responsible for affairs of this sort.

In No. 14, on account of the illness of Miss Warren, Miss Glines taught the first two weeks of the term.

In No. 17 two weeks of school were taught by Miss Lancaster in June, which are included in the one term given in the table, Miss Seavey teaching the last eight weeks of the term.

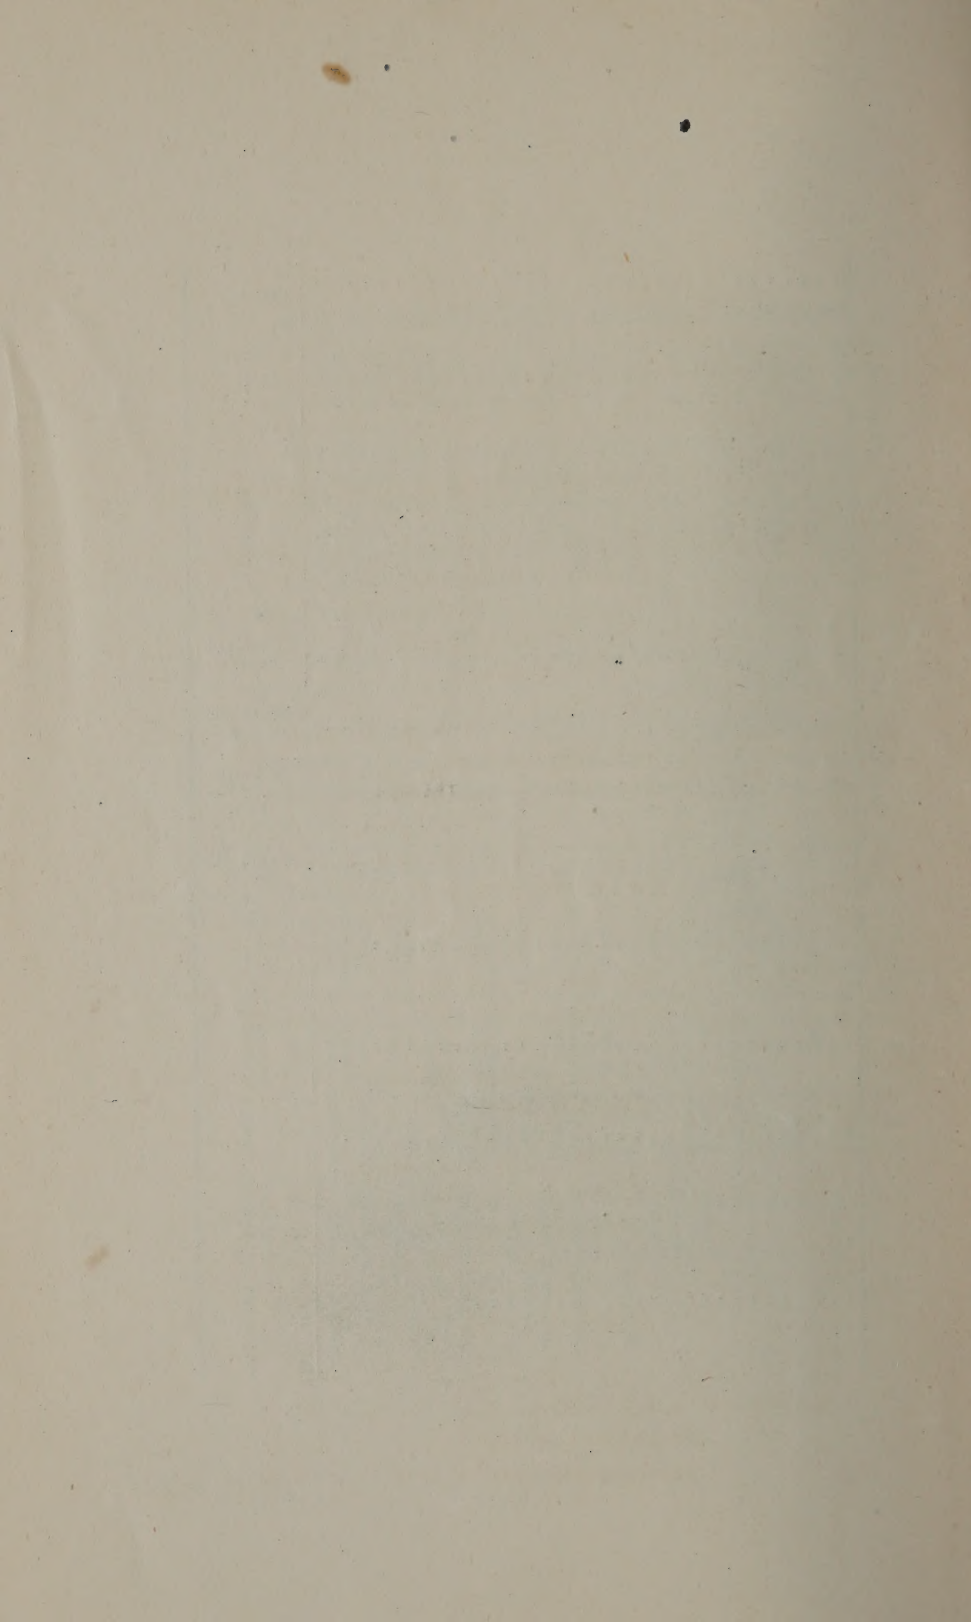

The second term of school in No. 19 was brought to a close by the sickness of the teacher.

S. GIRARD NORCROSS,
Supt. School Com. for the town of Conway, N. H.
